YANKEE QUILL AWARD

At their meeting in October, the Academy of New England Journalists posthumously honored Sarah Josepha Hale with the Yankee Quill History Award. As a 19th century poet, writer and magazine editor from Newport, New Hampshire, Sarah Hale is a historic figure in journalism. She is known as the "Mother of Thanksgiving," author of "Mary Had a Little Lamb" and ardent supporter of girls' education in the early 19th century.

On December 7 at 1:00 p.m., William Ketter, George Geers and Rod Doherty of the Academy of New England Journalists and Linda Conway and Megan Sherman of the New England Newspaper & Press Association will present the award to the library trustees be placed in the library's Hale archives.

Sarah Hale Park

Thanks to the generosity of the benefactor and the amazing dedication of Brent Stocker, the Sarah Josepha Hale Memorial Park Legend was installed and the Park is now finished!

We just received a new book that would make a wonderful holiday gift. Take a look at Atlas Obscura: an Explorer's Guide to the World's Hidden Wonders by Joshua Foer and others.
