WRITER'S WORKSHOP

Are you an aspiring writer? We have a group at the library that meets the first Thursday of each month led by Ali Wood and Mo Churchill-Calkins. This group is for adult writers who are looking for inspiration, criticism, collaboration, or resources. They will meet next on Thursday, December 6 from 6:00 to 7:45 PM. Connect yourself with other local aspiring writers and perfect your craft.

VOLUNTEER TEA

The Trustees of the Richards Free Library would like you to join us on Tuesday, December 11, 2018 at 4:00 PM in the Oval Room of the library for a reception to honor all library volunteers as well as the presentation of the Pamela Gay Award for Volunteerism.

Meeting

The lecture will be presented by Chris Schadler Ms. Schadler is co-founder of the New Hampshire Wildlife Coalition (www.nhwildlifecoalition.org) and the New Hampshire and Vermont Representative for Project Coyote (www.projectcoyote.org). You will learn a great deal while gaining a new appreciation for these beautiful and often misunderstood animals. Chris leads us to a better understanding of coyotes which helps conquer fears, encourage respectful coexistence, and enhance or instill an appreciation for the wildlife around us. Members of the audience will be offered interesting and informative handouts compiled by Project Coyote. The lecture is free and open to all. Refreshments will be served.

GIFT WRAPPING WORKSHOP

Is gift wrapping not your strong suit? The Richards Free Library is hosting a drop-by Gift Wrapping Workshop for teens and adults on December 12 from 5:00 TO 6:00 PM. Drop in to learn some simple gift wrapping techniques and make a special gift tag. We'll have some wrapping paper and trimmings, but feel free to bring your own, or bring a roll of paper to share or swap! Music, cheerfulness, and table space will be provided!

BOOK GROUPS

The Wednesday Night Book Group will be holding its annual pot luck dinner on Wednesday, December 19 at 6:00 PM. Bring a dish to share and suggestions of books for future discussions - a book you've read or have been wanting to read.

There will be no Books on Tap book group in December because of the holiday. They will meet next on January 22, 2019 and will discuss the book Walking to Vermont by Christopher Wren. Copies of the book will be available from the library at the end of December.
