BUILD A BETTER WORLD SUMMER READING PROGRAM

Summer Reading is done! We reached our goal and read approximately 1,500 hours all told! We are so proud of all our summer readers this year, some of whom did more than 100 hours of reading.

We had a lot of fun this year, and enjoyed programs as varied as a visit from Boston Bruins mascot Blades the Bruin, storytelling by Simon Brooks, making fairy houses, Jungle Jim's balloon magic show, planting flowers in tiny pots we painted ourselves, making paracord bracelets, and tons more. Thanks to all our participants, and especially our local business partners, including Grazi's Market, Coronis Market, McDonald's, and LaValley's Building Supply, and our event sponsors:

- The Kids, Books and Arts grant, funded in part by the Institute for Museum and Library Services (IMLS) through the Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA), which sponsored our kickoff performance.
- The Dollar General Literacy Foundation's summer reading grant, which provided funding for programs including the Simon Brooks performance.
- The Friends of the Richards Free Library, which provides the rest of all our children's programming funding.

We have lots of book displays throughout the library: New York Times Bestsellers; Indie Bestsellers; LibraryReads top sellers; Staff Picks; and new this week, in honor of the Soo Nipi Quilt Guild Biennial Quilt Exhibit opening this Friday, October 6, at the Library Arts Center, a selection of quilting books. Come in and take a look!

New books from popular authors are always coming in to the library! Some recent acquisitions include: Origin by Dan Brown (the continuing story of Robert Langdon); Sleeping Beauties by Stephen King; Winter Solstice by Elin Hilderbrand; A Column of Fire by Ken Follett; Cast Iron by Peter May; Don't Let Go by Harlan Coben; and The Vietnam War: An Intimate History by Ken Burns -- just to name a few!
